What is the purpose of this study?
As all prostate cancer treatments have an impact on the man’s sexual function and relationship, the goal of this study is to see if a web-based intervention helps to improve sexual intimacy and quality of life of persons treated for prostate cancer, as well as of their partners. The web-based format is intended to provide support for men and partners in the privacy of their homes.

Who can take part in this study?
We are asking men who are newly diagnosed with prostate cancer and plan treatment with surgery alone or radiation therapy alone.

Participants must be at least 18 years old, and in a committed relationship for at least 6 months.

Can I participate without my partner?
No. This study has been designed for patients and their partners. However, the team is developing an intervention for single men as well. We anticipate it to be available after the completion of this study, in 2018-2019.

Participating in the Sexual Recovery Intervention

What will I have to do if I choose to participate?
Patients and partners will participate in a web-based study that supports their sexual recovery, starting before treatment and continuing for 6 months after treatment.

The web-based study will provide patients and their partners with information about the impact of prostate cancer treatment on individual and couple sexual health. It will also include information about rehabilitation strategies that lead to retaining or recovering sexual health despite the treatment-related sexual side-effects.

What will happen to me in this study?
In this study, patients and partners will be randomized into two arms of the study: 1) usual care, or 2) the interventional arm.

During the course of the treatment, patients and partners in both arms will be asked via email to view the materials on the website together, and to complete individual surveys at three different time points (baseline, 3 months, and 6 months).

How long will I take part in this study?
The entire study will take approximately 7 months. With regard to the surveys, we expect two of the surveys to take approximately 20-30 minutes and one survey to take 10-15 minutes to complete. Your participation will end after you complete the 6 month survey.

Where will the study take place?
This is a web-based study, and therefore patients and partners can complete the study in the comfort of their own home.

What about my confidentiality?
All identifying information will be kept confidential and secure. None of your identifying information will be released to anyone outside of the study.

Anything you share will remain confidential and will not be shared with your health care providers.

Will I be paid or given anything for taking part in this study?
Yes. Patients and their partners could receive up to:

- $50 cash for taking part in the study.
- $25 cash will be provided for participation in the first survey (baseline)
- $25 following the third survey (6 month survey).
